BRATTLEBORO LOCAL.

St. Michael's parochial school opened this morning, after a vacation of one week.

Edwin F. Lindsey, for about four years a substitute mail carrier, received Saturday his appointment as a regular carrier.

Fort Dummer colony, Pilgrim Fathers, will not hold a meeting this evening. The next meeting will be held Monday, April 17.

The New England auxiliary will hold a regular meeting with Mrs. Harry Holland of Canal street this evening at 8 o'clock.

A regular meeting of Bingham chapter, O. E. S., will be held tomorrow evening at 7.30 o'clock. All officers especially are requested to be present.

Members of Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps are requested by the officers to attend the funeral of Mrs. A. H. Bixby of Washington street tomorrow afternoon at 2.30.

The annual meeting of the Brattleboro Country club will be held in the Brooks House parlors at 7.30 o'clock tonight to elect officers and hear reports of the officers.

The annual meeting of class No. 12 of the Baptist Bible school will be held tomorrow evening at 7.30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Enos White on Forest street. All members are expected to be present.

The Empire presents today the William Fay feature, The Regeneration, with Rockett Fellows and Anna Nilson. It is a strong and exciting drama. Tomorrow there will be shown the ninth episode of Graft and a specially selected variety program.

The house boat owned by Dr. E. S. Bowen and others, which broke through the ice near the suspension bridge while being transported to a new location and was left there, was saved. It was sold to Wilson Brothers and they cut the boat in two and took it ashore.

The leader of the First Regiment band has received from Col. J. G. Estey and Capt. J. Harry Estey an offer to furnish whatever new music the band wants for the coming season. Their generosity will be appreciated not only by the band but by the public as well.

Marguerite Clark will be seen today at the Princess theater in the Paramount production, Still Waters, a charming story of circus and rural life which will appeal to the little folk. Tomorrow a specially selected program will be given, including an episode of the Stingaree series.

Return was made Saturday of the marriage, March 25, by Rev. Delmar E. Trout, pastor of the Universalist church, of Charles Henry Ebbighausen, jr., of North Hinsdale, N. H., and Miss Ruby Pauline Streeter of 5 Church place, Brattleboro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan L. Streeter.

The men of Brattleboro lodge, N. E. O. P., held a very successful social in Grand Army hall Saturday. Five hundred was played. Henry J. Allen of Canal street won first prize and the consolation prize went to George H. Hall of Clark street. The pillow was given to Paul Suttok of New London, Conn.

At the close of business at the town clerk's office Saturday 382 dogs had been licensed in addition to one kennel license for 10 dogs. Last year 407 individual licenses and one kennel license were issued. It is possible to license dogs this month by paying an extra premium of $2, and after that dogs unlicensed may be killed.

Past Masters' night will be observed by Columbia lodge in the Masonic temple this evening. The master Mason degree will be conferred on four or five candidates by a team of past masters, with Sanford A. Daniels, district deputy grand master, acting as worshipful master. Refreshments will be served after the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Philbrook, who produced the First Regiment band show last year, will arrive in Brattleboro the first week in May to begin rehearsals for this year's production. The band committee will begin this week booking talent for the coming show, which will be the operetta, Honey Moon, Lane. The dates are May 25, 26 and 27.

The Aborn Grand Opera company is meeting with great success in its performances at the Brooklyn academy. In a very complimentary notice of the production of Aida the New York Sun said: "There was no mistaking of Carlo Carrara, King William Schuster, who also directed the stage. He hurled his 42 centimeter English vocabularies over the footlights so that you got full value for every word, full meaning to his music."

Rev. Alfred J. Hough of Brownsville retired from the ministry at the session of the Vermont Methodist conference just held in Montpelier. He entered the conference in 1874. Some years ago he was pastor of the Brattleboro church. Mr. Hough was the poet of his conference and his poems have appeared in different secular and religious papers for many years. He has long been prominent in Masonic circles of Vermont as a member of the state grand lodge. He will spend his remaining years in New Hampshire with his children.

ROBBERS RAID A POKER PARTY.

They Get About $3,500 in Cash Besides Jewelry.

BOSTON, April 3.—The local police occasionally break up Sunday poker parties here, but a big game on West Springfield street was upset in an unusual manner. Seven men were enjoying an afternoon at "stud" when suddenly three masked youths stepped into the room, presented three revolvers at the astonished players and called "Hands up!"

The robbers lined the players against the wall and searched their pockets. One player, who was the big winner, was relieved of $1,700 in money, his diamond stickpin, ring and gold watch. The others were also stripped of their cash, watches and jewelry. The total money stakes taken by the thieves amounted to about $3,500. No complaint was lodged with the police for obvious reasons.

BRATTLEBORO LOCAL.

The Wilmington stage, F. E. Johnson proprietor, covered the entire route from Wilmington to Brattleboro this forenoon on wheels for the first time this year. There is but little good going anywhere on the route, and in some places it is very bad. On Bigelow hill, a short distance out of Wilmington there is a large snow drift, and it was necessary for Mr. Johnson drive into a field to get around it.
